BATTERY B OF MESA RETURNS FROM TWO WEEKS ENCAMPMENT

MESA, Sept. 6.—Tanned brown and hardened in muscle and spirit to the life of a soldier, members of Battery B, Arizona Field Artillery, of Mesa, returned to the valley Tuesday morning from their first annual two weeks' encampment, held this year at Fort Bliss, El Paso, Texas. Three officers and 65 men participated in the outing.

The battery left Mesa on August 22 and has since put in a busy two weeks in the Fort Bliss training area. Immediately on arrival in camp the soldiers took up the routine of army life. As possible time was devoted to the training of the embryo soldiers in the limited time available. The men were comfortable in the brick barracks at Fort Bliss and enjoyed all of the soldier conveniences of the post.

A greater part of the two weeks in camp was taken up in instruction work for the men. Experienced instructors from the post assisted in the work and with the use of guns and stock and other necessary battery equipment which was available at Fort Bliss, much valuable and actual experience was gained. Following the instruction period, several days were put in on the range by the battery at target practice.

Captain D. H. Blery was in command of Battery B on the encampment, assisted by Lieutenants Joe Pomeroy and Ivan Pomeroy. Battery A of Flagstaff was also present for the encampment, the two batteries participating jointly in much of the instruction work given.

MARKET FOR HONEY SHOWS BIG ADVANCE

Substantial evidence that the honey market is recovering in marked degree is contained in the announcement that the Lovett Honey company, a carload of honey to the East at $5 a case.

It is the general opinion of honey men that the European market is about to open up. This means much to Arizona honey shippers, as Europe is the principal market for honey produced in the United States and also from the fact that mesquite honey from Arizona is considered the best honey in the world.

There are at present, it was estimated yesterday, more than 30,000 stands of bees in the Salt River valley and more than 50 people and firms interested in the business in this valley. The honey crop this year is said by those qualified to state to be short, owing to the extreme drought and the small acreage of cotton.

The many thousands of stands of bees in the valley are declared to be in the best possible condition, as it is authoritatively stated that there is no foul brood in the Salt River valley, either American or European.
